BILLY SUNDAY IN DECATUR.

The Great Base Ball Player and Evangelist Holding a Great Revival.

J. T. DITTO SENDS PARTICULARS

The Breckenridge News is enjoying the Decatur Review which Mr. John T. Ditto has sent that the staff might get the particulars of the Sunday revival being held in Decatur, Ill. The revival has been going on five weeks for the purpose of getting voters to vote whisky out of that city at a coming election.

The Sunday meetings are being held in a tabernacle erected by volunteer labor. Some of the most prominent lawyers, doctors, merchants and other men of Decatur worked on the structure. Mr. Ditto put in a day's work on it. The building seats 4,500 persons and every night since the revival began people have been turned away by the thousands. The audience begins assembling at the tabernacle at 5:30 in the afternoon, and remains there until 10 o'clock and later.

Some of Sunday's preaching is: "Go home and live your religion. Bake bread, sweep the house, wash the dishes, dress the children, slop the hogs, harness the horses with your religion. Live your honeymoon over again. Buy your wife some flowers. She'll wear longer over the washboard."

Prof. H. A. Howell, of Savannah, Cuba
Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"As long ago as I can remember my mother was a faithful user and friend of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, but never in my life have I realized its true value until now," writes Prof. H. A. Howell, of Howell's American School, Havana, Cuba. "On the night of February 3, our baby was taken sick with a very severe cold, the next day was worse and the following night his condition was desperate. He could not lie down and it was necessary to have him in the arms every moment. Even then his breathing was difficult. I did not think he would live until morning. At last I thought of my mother's remedy, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which we gave, and it afforded prompt relief, and now, three days later, he has fully recovered. Under the circumstances I would not hesitate a moment in saying that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and that only, saved the life of our dear little boy." For sale by Severs' Drug Co.

The New Princess-Dress Effect.

"One-piece princess dresses will be among the favored fashions for spring," says Grace Margaret Gould, the fashion editor, in the March, the Spring Fashion Number of the Woman's Home Companion.

"They are cut out at the neck to show a guimpe, and are made sleeveless, or with half sleeves, showing the guimpe sleeve below. A year ago a dress of this sort would have been more apt to be developed in some high-priced fabric and used only as a best dress. This spring it will be regarded as an every-day fashion, and be made of such materials as panama, mohair and light-weight serge.

Bridge Proposition Feasible.

Mr. James Myers and Squire Bob Sheets, of West Point, are very much encouraged over prospects of building the bridge across Salt river. Capt. Burgess, U. S. Engineer, of Louisville, has viewed the proposed site and it looks from his report that the government will allow the bridge to be constructed as it will not interfere with the navigation of Salt river. The banks where the bridge will be constructed are fifty feet above low water mark and when the stream over flows it is not navigable because there is no place to land. It is thought that the government will allow the bridge to be built eight feet higher than the I. C. bridge which would allow the steamer Bellview to pass under during high water and make the abutments just thirty feet higher than the banks. The bridge will be a single span of 250 feet and will cost complete about $25,000. The approaches on the Jefferson side which will have to be built by Jefferson county will cost about $10,000 and the approaches on the Hardin side will be 300 feet and will cost about $3,000. As soon as the money can be raised at West Point for the survey and plans for the bridge the matter of its construction will be taken up with the War Department. The bridge proposition now seems entirely feasible and we can see no reason why it should not be built.—Elizabethtown Mirror.

Christine Bradley South

Helped Her Father Win.

L-xxington, Ky., March 7.—Mrs. Christine Bradley South, of Frankfort, Ky., the only child of the newly-elected United States senator, William O. Bradley, has been a great help to her father during his political fights, and especially in the one which closed here last Friday. Mrs. South is a typical Kentucky girl. She is a perfect exponent of the far-famed Kentucky hospitality and it has often been said by strangers that "five minutes after you have met Mrs. South you feel as if you had known her all her life." She has been her father's confident and advisor since leaving school, and it is largely owing to her tact and good judgement that he captured the United States senatorship from Gov. Beckham with odds apparently so overwhelmingly against him.

She knows every politician of importance in the state, and with a woman's instinct, is often enabled to counsel her father so that he will not become compromised with unscrupulous men who might be seeking to use him to further their own interests. She was at the balloting for senator nearly every day during the campaign and did much toward cheering her father's spirits when everything looked so dark for him. She is a charming conversationalist and by her brilliant powers in this respect and her magnetic personality she won over many men to her father's cause. But perhaps the greatest pleasure she experienced was when the four Democrats went over to the Republicans and nominated her father.

Directly after the election Mrs. South said: "This is the happiest day of my life, for father is elected senator and the dream of his life has been fulfilled. Of course I have always rejoiced when he was successful, but this time the fight has been so long and bitter and his opposition so strong that I feel that his election is the greatest triumph of his life." Mrs. South is the wife of Dr. John G. South, a rising young physician of Frankfort and a strong Democrat. Mrs. South will likely accompany her father to Washington and spend most of the season with him, as she is already well known at the capital.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.
